Programme Overview

Pathway Year English is designed for potential international degree seeking students who need to achieve an overall and broad command of the English language in everyday and academic use. The students may also familiarize themselves with Scandinavian society, culture and language. In addition, the Pathway Programme provides familiarity with higher education and assists in developing communication in an academic environment. The programme enables the student to gain skills and competencies for either first or second cycle university level education in an intercultural and international environment. It also bridges between secondary education and the qualitative targets of tertiary education. The horizontal aim is to develop and strengthen student skills for participating in higher education, life-long learning and global citizenship through group work, social engagement, peer learning, reflective learning and autonomous learning whilst developing agency, ability to reconcile tensions and dilemmas, intercultural communication skills, metacognitive skills, information and digital literacy and critical thinking. The programme enables the student for academic studies conducted in English in most fields, by improving the student's proficiency in reading, writing, listening and speaking as well as developing their academic English and helping student navigate Scandinavian teaching methods and university life. It corresponds to one year of full-time studies, comprising a total of 60 credits. In this programme, the students major is in English, with a minimum of 40 credits, and minors in Social Sciences and Swedish with a combined minimum of 20 credits.

Objectives

The foremost objective is familiarity with the English language. The overall programme objectives can be summarised as an aim to create academic readiness in knowledge, skills and behaviour. The programme objectives focus on developing language proficiency, key cognitive strategies, academic knowledge and skills as well as contextual skills and awareness. Each of the courses in the programme share the horizontal aim but have separate Intended Learning Outcomes and content. The programme objectives are qualitative goals that permeate the courses and teaching methods in order to develop the students' ability to:

Knowledge and understanding

- demonstrate familiarity and proficiency in language use
- demonstrate knowledge and understanding in each of the specific subject courses
- understand which academic behaviours lead to success and demonstrate self- awareness about these behaviours

Competence and skills

- search for, gather, evaluate, discuss and critically interpret information
- engage texts critically and create well written, organized, and supported work products
- identify, formulate and solve problems autonomously
- complete tasks within predetermined time frames
- adapt to the context and recipient

- work in teams and communicate clearly

Judgement and approach

- take subject specific, social and ethical issues into consideration
- identify the need for further knowledge and ongoing learning
- critically evaluate their own learning based on self and peer reflection, as well as teacher feedback

Contents

Each course in the Pathway Programme includes elements of the horizontal aims, including functional perspectives on ethical awareness, equal opportunities and equality that are thematically connected to the course content.

Courses

Pathway English 1
The course is an introduction to academic English and develops basic competency in effective communication in an academic environment by development of reading, writing, speaking and listening. The course includes introductions to formal writing, creativity, critical thinking and presentation skills. English will be taught in an international context with a strong focus on active participation and group discussion.

Pathway English 2
The course is designed to develop English language competencies and effective communication in an academic environment. In addition to further development of the four main areas of language (reading, writing, speaking and listening), there is also a strong focus on academic skills including research ethics, critical thinking, academic writing and presentations. English will be taught in an international context with a strong focus on active participation and group discussion. Students will be given opportunities to share their own experiences and in turn gain a deeper knowledge of living conditions, social issues and cultural features in different parts of the world.

Pathway Swedish 1
The purpose of the course is to provide students with a first, basic, introduction to the Swedish language that enables the student to interact with and understand their surroundings. This means that the student can understand and use familiar everyday expressions and very basic phrases to meet the needs in specific situations. For example, the student can introduce themselves and others, ask and answer questions about personal details and interact in a simple way with support from the person they are communicating with. It is also possible for the student to understand simple instructions and announcements. The Swedish language will be taught aiming to give students basic Swedish language skills. The course is equivalent to the A1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

Pathway Swedish 2
The purpose of the course is to provide students with a first, basic, introduction to the Swedish language that enables the student to interact with and understand their surroundings. This means that the student has command of the language in specific areas, such as personal information, feelings, shopping, local places, university or workplace or when introducing themselves. The Swedish language will be taught aiming to give students basic Swedish language skills. The course is equivalent to the A2 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

Pathway Life and Studies 1 and 2
The Life and Studies course aims to enable familiarity with society and academic life. Students will study and explore different aspects of society, such as culture, politics, history and traditions to build an understanding for the surrounding world. Students will also improve study skills, and their understanding of the academic community both in theory and practice.

Pathway Mathematics
The course is designed to prepare students for studies at their following programmes by learning how to use basic algebra, geometric sums, studies of polynomial, power and exponential functions, derivatives and differentiation rules for the functions mentioned above as well as applications using the derivative to solve optimization problems and integrals.

Pathway Study Skills
This course is designed for students/professionals wishing to gain the tools for study skills on an academic level with focus on communication and intercultural competence. By understanding transformative competences students/professionals gain skills in different learning communities and digital literacy.
